

BIRTH OF TWIN BOY BABIES AT NCHD MEDICAL CAMP

The current flash flood brought with it devastation on huge scale. It has been the worst disaster in a century. The calamity caused millions of people to displace from their homes; they are now living under open skies, or shelters of tents or plastic.

Amongst these displaced people, is Mrs. Bushra w/o Hummayun Khan. She was living happily with her family in Aba khel (Nowshera), until flood washed away her home, and the tranquility of her life. She left all that was hers behind to find refuge on higher grounds along with her two children (aged 8 and 4) and her husband. She was 9-months pregnant at the time.

NCHD Nowshera was trying its best to cope with this unexpected flood situation tactfully, and has been actively participating in relief operations from day-one.

NCHD Nowshera had arranged one static medical camp in Polytechnic College, Nowshera, and other mobile medical camps in different places within Nowshera.

Mrs. Bushra Khan, when displaced from her home, got shelter in Polytechnic College along with her family.

After 15 days of her stay in polytechnic college, on 29th August, 2010, she delivered a set of twin baby boys. She was entirely treated and cared for by NCHD medical experts; and it was indeed a moment of great pleasure for all around to behold the healthy twin boy babies born to her.

“I and my family are very thankful to the NCHD Nowshera medical team for timely medical treatment and assistant support”, said a tearful proud mother, Mrs. Bushra Khan.
